

OAG Health and Safety Policy Statement

OAG designs and delivers stunning architectural glazing solutions, working on some of the most iconic and challenging structures in the UK and is committed (as set out by regulation) to ensuring the health, safety and welfare of its employees as far as is reasonably practicable to prevent both injury and ill health to any person. Additionally we accept our responsibility towards others who may be affected by our activities and will take all necessary steps to ensure that our statutory duties are met at all times. As a business we will implement all necessary measures to eliminate hazards (where possible) and reduce the associated risks.

Responsibilities

The successful implementation of this policy requires total commitment from all levels of the organisation. It is the duty of all management to ensure that our work activities are designed to take account of health and safety, including the welfare of staff; and that our works are adequately supervised at all times. Each individual has a legal obligation to take responsible care of their own health and safety and for the safety of other persons who may be affected by their acts or omissions. Every employee and subcontractor must cooperate with us to ensure all statutory duties are complied with.

Objectives

Clear objectives will be set annually as part of our ISO Management review process which allows us to monitor our performance against our processes and procedures. This gives us the opportunity to strive towards continuous improvement.

At no time will health and safety be compromised for any other objective.

Additionally, we will ensure:

- All staff employed in our activities receive the most up to date level of information, instruction, training and supervision, to confirm they are competent to carry out their roles.
- Facilities and arrangements will be available and maintained so that employees and subcontractors are able to work in a safe environment.
- All employees are consulted on Health and Safety matters and have the opportunity to provide their feedback.

This health and safety policy statement will be reviewed at least annually and where necessary updated to take account of any revised legislation, best practice and/or organisational changes. The revised policy statement will be made available on our internal document management system and externally when requested.
